How I can help you

Jim has been in the financial industry since 1968. He was a Financial Adviser and Director before semi-retiring. While Jim is no longer advising clients he remains as part of our team as a Business Development Manager.

Jim is happy to chat about our services and how we can assist you. He is in regular contact with our ongoing service clients to ensure that we are meeting their expectations and assisting with client service.

He has been helping people reach their goals and solve their financial problems for over 40 years. Jim has seen it all and still works because he loves what he does.
